

Spain

Spain is a vibrant country rich in culture, history, and culinary diversity. It dazzles travelers with architectural marvels such as the Sagrada Familia and Park Güell in Barcelona, the Royal Palace and Prado Museum in Madrid, and the majestic Alhambra in Granada. Visitors soak up the sun on the beaches of Costa del Sol, admire the Islamic influence in Seville's Alcázar, and experience colorful festivals in Valencia. Spanish cuisine is as diverse as its regions. Barcelona tempts with tapas and seafood paella, Madrid satisfies with cocido and churros con chocolate, and the Basque city of San Sebastián is known for its world-class pintxos and Michelin-starred dining. Andalusia offers traditional dishes like gazpacho and jamón ibérico, while Valencia proudly serves the original paella. With its regional variety and emphasis on fresh, flavorful ingredients, Spain delivers an unforgettable gastronomic journey alongside its cultural treasures.
